Will Pickleball courts be built?

A

Publicly Answered

Peninsula Township has a parks committee that works on park development plans. Work on pickleball courts at Bowers Harbor Park has taken place and the answer to this question is somewhat involved. More complete information will follow shortly from the parks committee.

I am all for improving the venues for farmers to market their products and promote agri-tourism opportunities but I feel that the recent WOMP lawsuit against the township zoning is something else entirely. It is a wholesale conversion of Winery allowances currently setup to promote local viticulture into micro commercial districts that sidestep zoning restrictions favored by most residents. If you read the details of their demands: more hotels, restaurants, distilleries, and retail stores...the equivalent of Winery strip malls may be the end result. That's in addition to more potentially inebriated traffic and violations of noise ordinances. Does current zoning have proposed changes to help maintain generations of agricultural and tourism that promote farming and the wineries without the conversion of the peninsula into a series of fancy stripmalls?

Publicly Answered

The current draft of the zoning update does not deal with changes to existing winery regulations, pending the outcome of current litigation.

Q

I'm very concerned that the proposed Township Ordinances include such unexplained and blatant changes in code like the change in Section 8.10.2 (3) Hotel, Motel, Tourist Courts from a five (5) acres minimum with a three hundred (300') foot width to the proposed Section 6.15 (A) (3) with NO acreage minimum and only 30' and 15' setbacks. In discussions with members of the Master Plan Steering Committee, there has been no agreement to drop the 5 acres minimum. Just how does something with such a huge impact on the Peninsula, get changed without public discussion! On what basis was this changed? We are already giving the B&B's a hard time and yet you change a restriction that comports with the spirit of the Master Plan and then open the flood gates on the Peninsula to widespread daily motel room rentals. Unbelievable. How could this happen?

Publicly Answered

The original zoning ordinance (adopted in 1972) listed hotels, motels and tourist courts as a special use in the commercial (C-1) Zoning District. There are only about 25 acres of land zoned Commercial (C-1) in the whole township. The balance of the township is generally zoned residential or agricultural, and a hotel would not be permitted in such districts. The proposed change (now in draft form) has to do with whether it makes sense to require five acres for hotels, motels, or tourist courts (in addition to SUP approval) in areas zoned C-1. Apart from the fact that it is somewhat unusual to require a minimum lot size for a specific commercial use, there is concern that a five-acre minimum lot size requirement might actually encourage a large hotel development. Most would consider a large hotel on five acres to be inappropriate in Peninsula Township, so the question was, why require five acres? The merits of this potential change are still being discussed.

What is the structure being built on Center Road just north of the new firehouse construction?

According to Christina Deeren, our zoning administrator, the only building under construction immediately north of the new fire station is believed to be an agricultural barn.

So happy for the chance to share ideas and comments with the neighbors on the Peninsula. Our concern is the shoreline protection enforcement which seems not to be taken seriously. With so much new construction along the shore on Peninsula drive we note that one of the first actions taken is to cut most of the trees that obstruct a clear view of the water. I understand that a percentage of cutting is allowed but this seems to be unenforceable leading to more erosion and fierce winds off the lake. It would be prudent to keep the tree buffer which allows for the rustic natural look of the shoreline to stay intact. Thank you for your comments.

Publicly Answered

Yes, the zoning ordinance regulates certain actions within a "buffer strip" along the waterfront. The buffer runs along the shoreline and extends 35 feet inward on the land. Tree cutting and the placement of decks and other structures within the buffer zone is strictly controlled. Over the past several years, we have attempted to educate property owners, especially new owners, through articles in the township newsletter about the zoning ordinance restrictions and "best practices" to preserve the quality of the water through management of the watershed. Additionally, in late 2019, a well-attended educational event organized by Monnie Peters was held at the town hall. Participants were given a guidebook prepared by the Watershed Council of "best practices" for waterfront property owners to follow. A copy of this document can be found on the shoreline and water quality page of the master plan section of this website. Our zoning department keeps a watchful eye on all activities on waterfront property and engages property owners whenever a violation is observed. Additionally, the adoption of a "shoreline overlay zoning district" has been discussed in the past. Such an overlay district would contain additional requirements aimed at shoreline protection. It is referenced in the current master plan.

Do e we have a dark sky ordinance here in Peninsula township? If so, could you provide the details within it?

A

Publicly Answered

Yes, we do. You can find more information about this on the township's website at www.peninsulatownship.com. Click on "Documents" in the blue bar and then on "Ordinances." Section 7.14 of the zoning ordinance contains the specific provisions regarding exterior lighting. You are also welcome to call the zoning office at 213-223-7318 with any specific questions.

Speeding has become a hot button issue. The deputy assigned to the township has very limited time to address this. Would hiring an additional deputy help? What would it cost?

A

Publicly Answered

Yes, the township hears about speeding issues frequently. The deputy assigned to Peninsula Township has multiple responsibilities that include time in court, ongoing training, and following up with residents who call for general public safety assistance (particularly common with elderly residents). The speeding issue touches on many concerns that run the gamut from those expressed by residents who live along certain roads to concerns over bike and pedestrian travel. The cost for an additional deputy for Peninsula Township would likely be around $85,000 per year.

What is the status of the large plot of wooded property on the west side of Smokey Hollow Road, just north of 2 Lads winery? There was a for sale sign for a couple of years, which is no longer there. I have also seen pickup trucks parked on the east side of the road and several trees seem to be marked with ribbons. Has this property been sold? If so do you know the plans for its use? Thank you!

We can only say that as of 2-19-21, no plans have been submitted to the township for a land use permit in this area.

have you obtained a legal opinion on placing the township zoning enforcement officer on the ZBA. This is a serious conflict of interest and I am surprised that the town board is even considering this. It is bad enough that a board member is also a township employee. The board supervises the town's employees and boy does that in itself smack of a conflict of interest. And now you want to place the zoning enforcement officer on a board that hears appeals on zoning issues.

Publicly Answered

The township received a legal opinion from our board attorney indicating that the appointment would be appropriate but that Mr. Sanger would have to recuse himself from matters he has involvement in as the enforcement officer." However, at the township board meeting on 2-23-21, the township zoning enforcement officer declined the appointment due to other commitments. The appointment was to be temporary and end as soon as possible, either when someone from the community volunteers to fill this seat or when the term ends in August 2021, whichever comes first. Peninsula Township invites all residents to consider giving back to the community and serving on either the ZBA or other boards or commissions. When vacancies can be filled promptly, there is less chance of cancelled meetings and interruptions to the flow of township business.

23 February 21

I previously asked about the status of the property on Smokey Hollow Road, just north of 2Lads winery. I received a response that to your knowledge there has not been a special use permit granted. Today, I hear trees being cut down in that beautiful stretch of wooded area. Once again, I ask, do you know what is the intended disposition of this land. It breaks my heart to hear trees being felled.

Publicly Answered

After a site visit and conversation with someone on site, our zoning administrator was told that this activity is primarily a selective cut of dead and/or diseased beech trees. Action of this sort does not require a land use permit or special land use permit. The only limitations on tree/vegetation removal occur along the shoreline (see the recent winter newsletter that describes this more). If there is grading activity on a site that involves disturbance of more than one acre, a soil erosion permit from the Grand Traverse County Health Department is required.

I am hoping the township would consider creating a workable ordinance that would allow for short term rentals. Having short term rentals would enable township residents to have reasonable options for guests to stay nearby, as well as provide income for those that wish to rent their property. It seems that rather than just saying "no" to STRs, the township could come up with a solution to address this in a thoughtful and satisfactory way. Other municipalities in the region have done this successfully, why not here?

Publicly Answered

Recently, the state legislature took up the issue of how short-term rentals can be regulated at the local level. This was during the 2018-'20 legislative session. This topic is important to most local governments, and many hearings were held in Lansing on proposed legislation establishing parameters for local regulation of STRs. Lots of preliminary activity occurred, but when COVID-related issues surfaced, progress slowed. Peninsula Township intends to wait for new state legislation to pass before taking up this issue so that any new STR ordinance is consistent with new state law rather than writing something only to have to revise it soon after. Once state law becomes clear, Peninsula Township will move forward with a workable STR ordinance that is guided by residents' desires. It should be noted that, according to the resident survey conducted in 2019, between 62–67 percent of residents favor the township's current policy on STRs.

With regards to the wineries' lawsuit against the Township: What are the current demands of the wineries? Is there a document available from the Township detailing these demands? Also, are the Township and wineries in negotiation at this time? Thanks.

I am asking about SUP 139 - specifically the Seven Hills proposal. In this proposal there is a proposed use of a spirits tasting room. On the earlier version in the February packet it was called a possible distillery/tasting room. In looking over the current ordinance and draft ordinance, there is not enough land there to have a tasting room- it is right around 2 acres. The current ordinance and draft ordinances also require tasting rooms to stop at 9:30. This one asks for the hours of operation to be 2pm-12 am which would violate our current ordinance and the proposed draft. Another question- I see no mention of ordinances pertaining to distilleries or breweries. If a brewery or a distillery has a tasting room, which they usually do, wouldn't it stand to reason that their hours of operation should be the same as a winery's?

Publicly Answered

The land included in SUP #139 is zoned C-1 (commercial) and restaurants and taverns are listed as a special use in that district. The C-1 district does not specifically describe permitted hours of operation for uses. The wineries and tasting rooms are all located in the agricultural zoning district (A-1) and subject to either special use requirements or use by right provisions in the A-1 District (including some limits on hours of operation).

In the Seven Hills proposal their language is " Spirits Tasting Room" - not a restaurant or tavern. If it is not allowed via zoning since it is zoned commercial and not agricultural then it should be either removed from the application as a permitted use, or the wording should be changed to restaurant and tavern. (see my earlier question which i included here) I am asking about SUP 139 - specifically the Seven Hills proposal. In this proposal there is a proposed use of a spirits tasting room. The current draft of findings of fact and conclusions before the township board for consideration lists a tasting room/bar/tavern as a use to be approved with SUP#139. This property is zoned C-1 commercial and is subject to regulations in that district. As mentioned, existing wineries and tasting rooms are all located in the agricultural zoning district (A-1) and subject to either special use requirements (SUP's) or use by right provisions (including some limits on hours of operation).

Thank you for the opportunity to be able to communicate with you through Participate Old Mission. I look forward to the many opportunities this will provide in helping the Peninsula decision makers be more transparent. I am confused,..... please clarify my confusion. We have a Master Plan for the Peninsula that was written a while back but still exists. My husband and I were a part of that Master Plan being approved when we, as land owners/residents were asked to support it, along with the PDR program which was a part of it. We even agreed to pay extra taxes to keep the Peninsula agricultural, rural, with open spaces and views of the bay not becoming obstructed. We were pleased that a section of the Master Plan required Developers to buy a portion of additional land, above and beyond their purchase of land they would develop, to keep open and free from development. Is this still being required? Our Master Plan gives us guidelines to live by thus protecting our lovely Peninsula from over development, overuse, overpopulation, and exploitation. However, now we are threatened with a Winery Lawsuit that is unreasonable and will be destructive to life as we know and treasure. Not to mention that we share the cost for lawyer fees to defend our home and way of life. These Winery Owners knew the ordinances when they were given the right to build their business on Old Mission Peninsula. We also watch as Special Use Permits are being granted by you which alters ordinance requirements of our Master Plan thus allowing for development on land that is not at all suitable for such development: such as the Seven Hills Development, the Five House subdivision being planned on a narrow strip of land between Bluff and Center Roads, being presented with the need to write and implement an imposing Blight Ordinance, which takes away personal land use options and limits individual artistic expression. If folks want guidelines for living they buy land or a home in a subdivision with an HOA. I know our Peninsula Township and specifically you, our planners and implementers of our Master Plan, are under development pressures. I ask for you to keep the integrity of our Master Plan, as you receive and act on requests for development. Remember once a precedent has been established it is nearly impossible/if not impossible to go backwards. Thank you for all your hard work!

Publicly Answered

Thank you for contributing your thoughts. We sincerely hope that you continue to stay engaged. We also hope that the popularity of this site continues to grow, adding more voices to the conversations about the future and current issues. Yes, the master plan update is underway, built on the foundation of the recent community survey and feedback coming in through Participate Old Mission. We hope you continue to follow the process, ask questions, and contribute your thoughts. It is not clear what section of the master plan requires developers to buy a portion of additional land, above and beyond their purchase of land they would develop, to keep open and free from development. Please let me know what specific section you are referring to. There is a planned unit development section of the zoning ordinance that allows developers to cluster the allowed number of housing units and designate areas as open spaces. That is in place and has been for a long time. The special use permits (SUPs) do not alter or ordinance requirements of our master plan. The existing zoning ordinance divides the township into zoning districts, and each zoning district includes a list of uses that could be approved with an SUP. The SUP requirements add additional levels of review, scrutiny, and public review. Also, SUPs can't be approved administratively. The blight ordinance has not moved forward. Yes, growth pressure is strong. Property owners often propose development that is consistent with the zoning ordinance and master plan. The merits of the project and its chance of being approved

Hello... I live at the residence at 18034 Mission Road. I am very curious and somewhat concerned about the nature of a development currently being planned for the property directly next to our home at 18062 Mission Road. This morning I had an engineer firm stop by and inquire about our water well. He vaguely informed me of the project currently being planned. I have many concerns should a development proceed on that formerly agricultural property. Thank you for your concern. Doug Czarnecki Are you able to share any information

Thank you for your question. There has been some discussion about a proposed development on this property, but nothing has been formally submitted to the township as of yet. Please watch the upcoming agendas for the Peninsula Township Planning Commission Meetings to see if/when this project is on the agenda. The planning commission typically meets on the third Monday of the month and the agenda/meeting packet is typically posted on at www.peninsulatownship.com several days before the meeting. Public input regarding proposed developments is encouraged. The next planning commission meeting is May 17, 2021 at 7 PM. You are also welcome to call the office anytime.

Consider implementing improvements to Peninsula Drive from the base of Peninsula at Center Road and Peninsula Drive north to the intersection of Bowers Harbor Road that could include seasonal speed limit of 25mph, traffic calming measures, widened shoulders, curbing and stormwater improvements (some locations), surfacing improvements and management, interactive mapping, signage and wayfinding.

Maybe a future band shell structure? Wintertime fun could include an outdoor skating/ice rink. (Freeze the tennis courts?) The park is a great meeting place for our residents of all ages, but some additional and updated programs are needed for the healthy mind and body of our community.

Is it automatically assumed that a wedding for example would bring more traffic and therefore it does not preserve the rural character, No the rural character stays the same, traffic does not change the landscape The landscape is what gives it the rural character. Wineries should be allowed more flexibility on what goes on inside the winery. Outside limit to 11 pm is reasonable.

C-1 zoned land is fragmented and when added together, only totals 25 acres on the whole peninsula. My thoughts: Allow C-1 zoned land to include lodging by SUP (with regulations/ limitations ie maximum # of rooms/guests). Allowing lodging on C-1 zoned land and NOT on residential land will in turn limit the lodging development on the peninsula and keep the peninsula in the same gorgeous condition it is today. There is a reason there is limited C-1 zoning on the peninsula. By allowing commercial uses to remain on commercially zoned land, we will keep the integrity of the primarily agricultural and residential aspects of OMP.

Such sites could allow farmers alternative sources of income while providing needed backup energy sources locally. Also, funds spent by the pooled resources of "investors" for a grid connected larger scale array are more economical than many small isolated expensive rooftop private net metering projects that don't benefit as many local users. Only 192 acres of land are needed to site enough solar panels to power peninsula township. Todd Wilson

Not all homes have viable spots to place solar panels. Also, Solar costs make it more cost effective the larger the array that is installed. By allowing these types of projects Township members could participate at varied budget amounts or at a smaller percentage of the overall household usage and still remain cost competitive. It also allows individuals to participate without altering the aesthetics of their home. All while protecting the land from development and outputting renewable energy. Another benefit is through 2023 there are significant federal tax benefits (up to 26%) that participants can receive. As far as the viewsheds I think that it would need to be considered, but for me I enjoy seeing solar arrays. It would remind me that the energy we are consuming comes from a sustainable source.

One of these is right next door to my property, just north of Gray Rd. If the trees on that bank had been nurtured and preserved, that bank might still be there. There are properties north and south of this location that have the trees clear cut. These will be the problem areas of the future. Ordinances need to be formulated that allow some flexibility to allow some tree thinning of trees but clear cutting has to be avoided. I am not in favor of mandating Permits for everything we do, but Permits for cutting trees along the water side of public roads to protect them from future catastrophic erosion and collapse seems like a good idea to me.

What are the current Commercial Centers on the OMP?

Publicly Answered

There are a total of about 25 acres of land zoned for commercial purposes (C-1) in the township. That total acreage is in several places, such as in Mapleton, the west end of Bowers Harbor Road, and at the intersection of Devils Dive and Seven Hills roads.

This question was asked as part of the large survey undertaken by the Township a year+ ago. Respondents overwhelmingly opposed the idea of a village center. Why is this question even being asked? Is the Township actually considering allowing such a thing in the face of such fervent opposition?

Publicly Answered

Yes, one question was asked about this topic in the 2019 survey. The online survey results were 55% opposed, 42% support, and 3% undecided. The phone survey results were 59% opposed, 34% support, and more undecided (7%). The concept of a village center was included as a topic on Participate Old Mission for two main reasons. First, the current master plan adopted in 2011 indicates that it should be reconsidered. To our knowledge, it was never formally rejected and was simply not acted on. Community planning is a process, and we need to continually reevaluate/update language. Second, considerable effort went into prior studies, and this is a complicated topic. We thought that more information would help better frame the issue (compared to one brief question in the recent survey) and allow us to provide more due diligence as we consider how/if the new master plan should address this topic. As indicated, this concept was originally conceived as a tool to preserve the rural landscape by using a transfer of development rights. It is and was not intended to expand development opportunities.

Single file riding is safer for both the riders and drivers. I see double and triple tiers of riders on Peninsula Dr even south of McKinley Rd. Leaving large spaces between groups of riders is needed so that there is somewhere to go for the driver who is passing if he has to move back into his lane without hitting a rider. It is a miracle that many more riders are not killed on the Peninsula every year. One more thing: Someone needs to get it across to riders that if they want to be treated like any other users of our public roads, they need to live by the same rules that drivers do. Stopping at STOP signs would be a good start. Signalling their intentions, being courteous and mindful of others would also be things to get used to doing. They are welcome to use the roads but sharing the road is a two way street - no pun intended. The other day, I was driving north on Peninsula Dr when out of nowhere a rider came down Wilson Rd, didn't even slow down and swung onto Peninsula Dr at high speed (thank God) and into the oncoming lane heading north. Had he turned to the south, I would have wiped him out. If a car had been in that oncoming lane he would be dead. If I had done that to him, he would have freaked out. All I could think of was, "Boy. That was stupid."

More students could commute, daily walkers and cyclists wouldn't feel so at risk.
